SEVENTH PUBLICATION.

PAISLEY:

PUBLISHED AND SOLD BY

G. FOWLER, BOOKSELLER.

In presenting to the public the seventh edition of the Directory, the publisher with gratitude acknowledges the valuable assistance he has received from many respectable individuals, and solicits a continuance of such favours, as he is thereby enabled to make his Lists more complete, and consequently more generally useful.

With regard to the usefulness of such a work, he deems it unnecessary to say much, as this, on the slightest inspection, will be found apparent. The Lists and Tables inserted in the Appendix are of the most useful description, and suitable not only to the Merchant and Trader, but to the public generally. In the accuracy of details, and distinctness of arrangement, he is aware that the chief value of such a work consists; he has, therefore, spared neither pains nor expense in securing these. As it will require a series of publications to remunerate him for his labours, he looks forward with confidence to a discerning public, for that support in his undertaking which his exertions require; at same time, he pledges his most unremitting attention to every source of information whereby he may render his Directory in every way worthy the very distinguished patronage it has already received.

As there are but few Copies thrown off, except what are subscribed for, non-subscribers will require to make early application; and, to prevent disappointment, it will be found advantageous for those who wish to secure a copy, to give in their names when the surveys are taken.

NOTICES.

The public are respectfully requested, when Removals and change of Firms take place, to send early notice to the Publisher, that the Lists may be made up by the 1st of May. Such Notices require to be accurate, as they are inserted verbatim. Attending to these notices, will be found of much public advantage, by securing accuracy in the Lists.—All communications, post paid, will be duly attended to.

N. B.—Bookbinding—Copperplate Engraving and Printing—Letter Press and Lithographic Printing, done in a superior Style.

DIRECTIONS

For the Recovery of the apparently Drowned or Dead.

BY THE PAISLEY HUMANE SOCIETY.

IN APPARENT DEATH three objects are constantly to be kept in view: 1st, to remove every hurtful cause; 2d, to regulate the temperature of the body; 3d, to restore breathing. For these purposes the following directions may be usefully employed, till medical assistance arrive, which ought instantly to be sent for in every case.

In a case of Drowning.

Remove as quickly as possible all wet clothes from the body, dry it well, wrap it in any warm woollen covering, and convey it, with the head and breast moderately raised, to the nearest house, where none but useful assistants ought to be admitted. Let the body now be laid on a warm bed or upon a warm blanket near a fire, but not exposed to a strong heat. Let the lost heat be restored by rubbing the surface with warm cloths or hands, by wrapping a piece of warm flannel or blanketting round the waist, and by applying warm substances, first and chiefly to the trunk and head, next to the limbs. The most convenient for this purpose are bottles or flasks filled with warm water, and bags or stockings filled with hot grains, chaff, bran, salt, or sand. Large glysters of warm water should also be exhibited. To restore the breathing, let a person firmly compress the nostrils with the fingers of one hand, then apply his mouth across the mouth of the body, and blow forcibly; let him now lift his head, and the air will escape. This operation is to be commenced as soon as possible, and continued till natural breathing return, or till the case appear hopeless. If water in the mouth and nostrils prevent inflation of the lungs, it ought to be discharged by blowing into the mouth while the nostrils are left open.

In a case of Strangling.

Remove every thing tight from the neck and breast, then proceed to inflate the lungs and restore heat, as directed above.

In a case of Suffocation from Impure Air.

Admit fresh air, inflate the lungs, and if the body be cold. restore heat as directed above; if, as sometimes happens, it be warmer than naturally, reduce the heat by dashing the head, neck, and breast smartly with cold water.

In a case of Apparent Death by Lightning.

Besides using the same means as for suffocation, give large glysters of salt and water, and use friction over the whole body.

In a case of Apparent Death from Intense Cold.

Avoid placing the body at first near the fire, use friction rather than apply heat for a time; in other respects act as for drowning.

In a Case of Excessive Intoxication.

If the breathing be suspended, act as for drowning, give large glysters of salt and water, endeavour to bring up the contents of the stomach by tickling the throat with feathers; for the same purpose when the power of swallowing is restored, give copious draughts of warm water.

To prevent Death from Loss of Blood.

If from a wound, apply firm pressure to the wound by the finger, or a small pad, till medical assistance can be procured. If fainting has taken place, lay the patient in the recumbent position, and apply hartshorn to the nostrils.—If the bleeding is from an internal part, apply cold wet cloths, and avoid all stimulants.

A Medical Apparatus lies in the Town's Hospital, another in the House of Recovery.

FAIRS.

Johnstone Cross, nearly opposite to the Black Bull Inn, is distant from the Cross of Paisley, 3 miles, 5 furlongs, 34 poles. Fairs are held on the Thursday following the second Monday of July and on the last Thursday of October, for cattle; also, on the last Friday of December for horses.

Although this market is not generally known, being but lately established; yet, from the excellent supply of cattle brought forward, promises to be one of the most numerous attended Fairs in the West of Scotland. The market place is spacious and very extensive, affording accommodation rarely to be met with.

FAIRS.

*Lillia's Day, 3d Tuesday of July, Old Style.

*St. Barchan's Day, 1st Tuesday of December, Old Style,

*Old Style is too antiquated to be understood now, and we would recommend to the inhabitants of those villages who regulate their Fairs by it, to join in "the progressing march of intellect." The Russians who are in the rear of European civilization, have lately adopted New Style, and surely we will not allow ourselves to droop behind.

PARLIAMENTARY BOUNDARIES.

By the Bill to regulate the boundaries of Scotch towns, returning, or joining to return Members to Parliament under the new regime, the following are the boundaries assigned to Paisley and Renfrew. They are certainly ample, and will not be complained of as cutting too closely on the outskirts.

PAISLEY.

From the summit of Byres Hill, on the north east of the town, in a straight line to the point near Knockhill, at which the Renfrew Road is joined by a Road from Glasgow; thence in a straight line to the summit of Knockhill; thence in a straight line to the northern Gable of Moss Toll-house on the Greenock Road; thence in a straight line in the direction of the chimney of Linwood Cotton Mill to the point at which such straight line cuts the Candren Burn; thence up the Candren Burn to the point at which the same is joined by the Braidiland Burn at the Bridge over the same on the Johnstone Road; thence up the Braidiland Burn to a point which is distant 500 yards (measured along the Braidiland Burn) above the said Bridge; thence in a straight line to Meikleridge Bridge over the Candren Burn; thence in a straight line to the point at which the Old Neilston Road leaves the New Neilston Road; thence in a straight line to the summit of Dykebar Hill; thence in a straight line to a point which is 100 yards due north-east of the summit of Bathgo hill; thence in a straight line to the point first described.

RENFREW.

From the Bridge over the Paddough Burn on the Glasgow Road in a straight line to a point up the Paddough Burn, which is distant 300 yards in a straight line from the said Bridge; thence in a straight line to a point on the Greenock Road, which is distant 250 yards (measured along the Greenock Road) from the point at which the same leaves the Paisley Road; thence in a straight line to a point on the River Clyde, which is distant 300 yards (measured along the River Clyde) below the point at which the same is joined by the Canal; thence along the River Clyde to the point at which the same is joined by the Canal; thence along the Canal to the point at which the same is joined by the Paddough Burn; thence along the Paddough Burn to the Bridge aforesaid,

TO THE PUBLIC.

Where merchants live, and wholesale dealers,
And various kinds of small retailers;
Surgeons, midwives, and innkeepers,
Blacksmiths, and painters, chimney sweepers,
Who have to let well-furnished rooms,
Who curl hair and sell perfumes,
Who strive from drowning you to save,
Who make your coffins, dig your graves,
Who guard your merits when you're gone,
By 'graving them on your tomb-stone,
Who for misdeeds bestow rebukes,
Who bind, buy, sell, or lend out books,
Bellmen, door-keepers, and precentors,
Number who vote for parliamenters,
The members of incorporations,
And all who fill our public stations;
Town criers, agents, auctioneers,
And who at funerals furnish tears.
Ministers, teachers, police rules,
Sabbath and week-day evening schools,
Those men who vigorous efforts join,
To circulate the word divine,
When banks are open, and when shut,
And where all carriers put up;
The places whence all coaches start,
When they arrive, and when depart,
The time of starting of the post,
Where stamps are sold, and what they cost,
The saving banks, fire engines' stations,
The newest tables of taxation,
About the boats, which will convey
Yourself or goods the cheapest way;
Tables by which you'll quickly see
How days of weeks and months agree,
Letter writers, money lenders,
Fish, bacon, egg, and other venders,
Cattle shows, and ploughing matches,
The regattas, and steam coaches,
Porters, barrowmen, and their fares,
For to convey your goods and wares,
Sailing vessels, large and small,
Agents, masters, trade, and all,
Where you may have the cheapest reading,
Also steam vessels and cowfeeding;
I these and other things will show,
Which 'tis desirable to know,
Knowledge like this there's little doubt,
Few prudent men will go without.
You'll have it all, you soon will see,
If you become possess'd of me.

In presenting to the Public the THIRD EDITION of the DIRECTORY for the LOWER WARD OF RENFREWSHIRE, the Publisher, with gratitude acknowledges the valuable assistance he has received from many respectable individuals, and solicits a continuance of such favours, as he is thereby enabled to make his Lists more complete, and consequently more generally useful. The names of the streets and the numbers of the houses in Greenock and Gourock have recently, at the Publisher's request, been painted on conspicuous places, and he respectfully recommends to the feuars and inhabitants to preserve these names and numbers, and to obliterate the old ones. The delivery of letters and parcels, the finding of places wanted, &c. &c. will thus be very greatly facilitated.

With regard to the usefulness of such a work, he deems it unnecessary to say much, as this, on the slightest inspection, will be found apparent. The Lists and Tables inserted in the Appendix are of the most useful description, and suitable not only to the Merchant and Trader, but to the public generally. In the accuracy of details, and distinctness of arrangement, he is aware that the chief value of such a work consists; he has, therefore, spared neither pains nor expense in securing these. As it will require a series of publications to remunerate him for his labours, he looks forward with confidence to a discerning public, for that support in his undertaking which his exertions require; at same time, he pledges his most unremitting attention to every source of information whereby he may render his Directory in every way worthy the very distinguished patronage it has already received. Although not promised, a Tide Table is given with this edition gratis. The publisher cannot promise to continue it, unless he meets with that encouragement to enable him to do so.

NOTICES.

The public are respectfully requested, when Removals and change of Firms take place, to send early notice to the Publisher, that the Lists may be made up by the 1st of May. Such Notices require to be accurate, as they are inserted verbatim. Attending to these notices, will be found of much public advantage, by securing accuracy in the Lists.—All communications, post paid, will be duly attended to.

REGULATIONS FOR PORTERS AND BARROWMEN.

The Magistrates and Town Council of Greenock, in virtue of the powers committed to them by the Acts of Parliaments, 41 Geo. III. cap. 51 and 57, Geo. III. cap. 32, hereby enact and ordain the following Regulations, to be strictly observed and enforced from and after the 1st June 1826, until expressly altered, viz:—

1st. That no Porter or Barrowmen shall be permitted to ply for hire within the Town of Greenock, and on the Quays and Breasts thereof, without being first licensed pursuant to the said Act, and having found caution faithfully to observe and fulfil the present Regulations; and each Porter shall have constantly affixed to his breast a badge, specifying his number, and which shall be delivered to him on his being licensed;—and all persons contravening this Regulation, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

2d. That all Porters shall with diligence and expedition perform the services for which they are engaged, and shall not soil or injure the property entrusted to their charge; and shall conduct themselves with civility and discretion, under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence, besides being liable to the party injured for damages.

3d. That when a Steam Vessel, just arrived at the Harbour has taken a berth in the outside of another Steam Vessel, no Porters or Barrowmen to stand on the paddle-box or on the side of the inside Vessel, but arrange themselves in the middle of that Vessel, and if the Vessel just arrived occupies an inside berth, they shall then arrange themselves on the Quay, at least four feet from the edge thereof, till called to be engaged, and permitted to pass on board by the officer attending for that purpose; nor shall any Porter, upon being engaged to carry Luggage or other Goods in the Town of Greenock, or from the Quays and Breasts thereof, attempt to transfer these to another Porter, but shall himself fulfil his engagement, and when required, accompany his employer; and all persons contravening this Regulation, shall be subjected in a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

4th. That no Porter shall embark the Luggage of Passengers going on board of any Steam Vessel until the Passengers intending to land at the Harbour shall have first landed with their Luggage, under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

5th. 6th. That Porters plying on the Steam Boat Quay shall be careful not to permit boys or other idlers to go on board any of the Steam Vessels, and, if necessary, they shall call for assistance on the officer on the station, and on the masters and crews of the Steam Vessels, to aid them in keeping boys and idlers from going on board, and on forcing them when on board, on shore: And the officer, and the master and crews of Steam Vessels, shall be bound to give such assistance: And all persons contravening this Regulation, shall forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

8th. That the Magistrates, on sufficient cause shown, may declare the Bond of Caution granted for any Porter forfeited, and deprive the offender of his License and Badge.

9th. The Penalties incurred under the preceding Regulations, may be sued for before the Magistrates, and recovered, at the instance of the Procurator Fiscal of the town of Greenock; and such proportion of these Penalties to be awarded to the informer as the Court may in its discretion direct.

REGULATIONS FOR STEAM VESSELS.

The Magistrates and Town Council of Greenock, Trustees for the Improvement of the Harbours of Greenock, and for establishing, supporting, and regulating the Police thereof, in virtue of the powers committed to them by the acts of Parliament, 50, Geo. III. Cap. 167, and 57, Geo. III. Cap. 32, hereby enact and ordain the following Regulations, to be strictly observed and enforced from and after the first day of June 1826, until expressly altered, viz:—

1st. That every Steam-Vessel for the conveyance of Passengers only, shall be brought alongside of that portion of the outside of the Custom House Quay betwixt the Watch-house and Light-house, provided the same is not previously occupied; and Steam Vessels for the Conveyance of Goods and Luggage shall take their stations alongside the other portion of the said Quay—and that under a penalty not exceeding Five pounds for each offence.

2d. That all Masters or other persons in charge of Steam Vessels, shall depart and sail from the said Harbour punctually at the hours of sailing announced on the boards put up for the said Vessels within the town of Greenock, and that under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence. And the time of the day shall be regulated and determined by the Public Clock at the Square. And on no account shall the period which has been announced, be altered by the Masters, or by others under their directions or acting under their authority, under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence. But it is hereby provided and declared, that if, from the state of the weather or any unforeseen occurrence, the Vessel cannot sail at the time announced on the boards, she shall depart as soon thereafter as the Master or other in command shall be required by the person appointed as after-mentioned, and that under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

3d. That the Bugle or Horn, used as a call for the Sailing of any Steam-Vessel, shall not be blown or sounded for such purpose until within five minutes of the time appointed for sailing, and it shall be done not on the Quays, or through the streets, but by a person stationed on board the said Vessel, and that under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

4th. That masters and Crews of all Steam-Vessels, lying nearest the Quay, shall have a sufficient gang-way board, with a hand rail affixed to it, placed betwixt their Vessel and the Quay, and shall give free access over the decks of their Vessels to passengers, to and from the Vessels lying in the outside berths or stations; as also free access for the conveyance of luggage and coals, to and from said vessels—under a penalty not exceeding five pounds for each offence.

5th. That when it is dark, every Steam Vessel, for passengers, shall, under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence, have and use sufficient lights at the time of their arrival at, or depart-ture from the Harbour, so as to enable passengers to get on board or to land with safety.

6th. That the Masters and Crews of all Steam-Vessels, shall take special care to exclude all persons under pretence of selling fruit or other eatables, or persons pretending to be porters, from coming and remaining on board within ten minutes of the hour of sailing, and shall, when called upon, assist the officer on the Station and the Licensed Porters in keeping on shore boys or other idlers—under a penalty nor exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

7th. That in order to defray the expence of removing and carting away the dross, ashes, and rubbish discharged from Steam-Boats and laid down upon the Quay, there shall be paid annually as follows, viz: For each Steam-Vessel plying on the River and resorting to Greenock Quays daily, at the rate of 1s. 6d. for every horse power.

Steam Boats plying on the line, that only call at Greenock.

Once in 2 days, 1s. 4d. per each horse-power.

Once in 3 days, 1s. 2d. do.

Once in 4 days, 1s. 0d. do.

Once in 5 days, 10d. do.

Once a week, 8d. do.

8th. That a person shall be appointed by the Magistrates and Council, to see these regulations carried into execution and strictly enforced; and the Masters and Crews of Steam-Vessels shall obey the orders and instructions given by that person.

9th. That the penalties incurred under the preceding Regulations may be sued for before the Magistrates of Greenock, and recovered at the instance of the Procurators Fiscal of the Harbour Police of Greenock, and such proportion of these penalties to be awarded to the informer as the Court may in its discretion direct.

10th. That a printed copy of these Regulations shall, by its owners, be placed in the Cabin and in the Steerage of each Steam-Vessel, and which shall at all times be open and patent to the passengers on board of said Vessel—under a penalty not exceeding Five Pounds for each offence.

D. Kennedy, Superintendant for berthing steamers.

DIRECTIONS

For the Recovery of the apparently Drowned or Dead,
BY THE PAISLEY HUMANE SOCIETY.

IN APPARENT DEATH three objects are constantly to be kept in view; 1st, to remove every hurtful cause; 2d, to regulate the temperature of the body; 3d, to restore breathing. For these purposes the following directions may be usefully employed, till medical assistance arrive, which ought instantly to be sent for in every case.

In a Case of Drowning.

Remove as quickly as possible all wet clothes from the body, dry it well, wrap it in any warm woollen covering, and convey it with the head and breast moderately raised, to the nearest house, where none but useful assistants ought to be admitted. Let the body now be laid in a warm bed or upon a warm blanket near the fire, but not exposed to a strong heat. Let the lost heat be restored by rubbing the surface with warm cloths or hands, by wrapping a piece of warm flannel or blanketing round the waist, and by applying warm substances, first and chiefly to the trunk and head, next to the limbs. The most convenient for this purpose are bottles or flasks filled with warm water, and bags or stockings filled with hot grains, chaff, bran, salt, or sand. Large glysters of warm water should also be exhibited. To restore the breathing, let a person firmly compress the nostrils with the fingers of one hand, then apply his mouth across the mouth of the body, and blow forcibly; let him now lift his head and the air will escape. This operation is to be commenced as soon as possible, and continued till natural breathing return, or till the case appear hopeless. If water in the mouth and nostrils prevent inflation of the lungs, it ought to be discharged by blowing into the mouth while the nostrils are left open.

In a Case of Strangling.

Remove every thing tight from the neck and breast, then proceed to inflate the lungs and restore heat, as directed above.

In a Case of Suffocation from Impure Air.

Admit fresh air, inflate the lungs, and restore heat as directed above, if the body be cold; if, as sometimes happens, it be warmer than naturally, reduce the heat by dashing the head, neck, and breast smartly with cold water.

In a Case of apparent Death from Lightning.

Besides using the same means as for suffocation, give large glysters of salt and water, and use friction over the whole body.

In a Case of Apparent Death from Intense Cold.

Avoid placing the body at first near the fire, use friction rather than apply heat for a time; in other respects, act as for drowning.

In a Case of Excessive Intoxication.

If the breathing be suspended, act as for drowning, give large glysters of salt and water, endeavour to bring up the contents of the stomach by tickling the throat with feathers; for the same purpose, when the power of swallowing is restored, give copious draughts of warm water.

To prevent Death from loss of Blood.

If from a wound, apply firm pressure to the wound by the finger, or a small pad, till medical assistance can be procured.—If fainting has taken place, lay the patient in the recumbent position, and apply hartshorn to the nostrils.—If the bleeding is from an internal part, apply cold wet clothes, and avoid all stimulants.

 The Publisher feels much pleasure in calling the attention of his readers, particularly those of them who are in the habit of passing some part of the summer season on the coast, to this beautifully situated, and easily accessible village. The names of the streets have recently been painted on conspicuous places, and the houses numbered, so that letters and parcels may now be so explicitly directed, that all chances of delay are removed. The list of lodging houses will be found peculiarly useful, as, at a single glance, the number of apartments and beds are seen, and strangers will thus know, at once, where to apply, according to the extent of accommodation wanted.

*Those marked * are Feuars.*

This pleasantly situated watering place is about five miles below Gourock, and possesses excellent bathing accommodation. From the list of Furnished Lodgings subjoined, showing the number of Apartments and Beds, strangers can accommodate themselves with Lodgings to the required extent, with almost no trouble. The purity of the air, the agreeable site, and the easy communication either by land or water, with the populous towns and cities on the Clyde, render it altogether a very pleasant and desirable retreat, either for the invalid or for the man of business who wishes to escape for a season the busy turmoils of commercial life.

COMMERCIAL DIRECTORY ## OF LARGS AND NEIGHBOURHOOD,

AYRSHIRE.

LARGS.

A neat pleasant village on the coast of the Clyde, containing some good Inns, and environed by many agreeable Villas; occupying nearly a mile in length of the sea-shore of Cunningham, the northern division of Ayrshire; its distance S.W. from Greenock being 14 miles; from Paisley 22; from Ardrossan, N.W. 13; and from Ayr, also N.W. 32. Although pretty closely hemmed in by hills, the shore over which the buildings of the Town are spread, is flat; and the beach is particularly favourable for bathing, screened by the hills in question from the keen blasts of the north, and from the raw breezes of the east. Largs boasts of a peculiarly mild general temperature, and as the air, while qualified with a healthful impregnation of saline particles, is rarely loaded with fog, allowed salubrity of climate has occasionally procured for the place the appellation—"Montpellier of Scotland." From these and other causes, the Town has of late years become a fashionable resort for bathing in the summer ; during the season there are from 1,500 to 2,000 visitors. Independent of the beach, a handsome building is erected near the sea for Hot, Cold, Vapour, and Shower Baths, to which is attached a large Coffee Room, Billiard Room, and Library ; strangers are admitted to become subscribers by the week, month, or whole season. This erection cost nearly £2,000, and is managed by a committee. Provisions of all kinds are readily procured. Fish in particular are plentiful and good. Indeed the Largs fishermen contribute greatly to the supply of Greenock, Glasgow, and Paisley, with this article. By the numerous Steam-boats almost hourly calling at the place, whatever is wanted for family use, and not furnished by the place, may be easily obtained. There are also in the Town, various well-stocked retail shops, in which grocery goods, liquors, haberdashery, hardware, &c. are sold.

Close by the Town, in the year 1263, was fought the celebrated battle of LARGS betwixt the Scots, and a powerful army of Norwegians or Norsemen, when the latter were defeated with immense slaughter, an event which put an end to their predatory expeditions, and caused their rapid expulsion from every settlement which they forcibly held in the Scottish dominions. The issue of this battle was no less important to the nation than the overthrow of other intruders was at a subsequent period ; for, had the Norwegians been successful at Largs, and the English at Bannockburn, it is probable that the very name of Scotland would have been annihilated. Numerous monumental tumuli, cairns, and stone coffins, in which have been found ancient warlike implements, axes, and spears, are to be met with over the whole face of this part of the country.

One great desideratum in Largs is the want of the names of the streets being painted on the corners, and the houses numbered in the same manner as Gourock, Greenock, and other towns and villages in Renfrewshire, the whole of which were done at the suggestion of the compiler of this work, and finished according to his arrangement, and under his immediate superintendence ; which arrangements have been approved of by the several authorities, and given general satisfaction. It would certainly be very beneficial, were every City, Town, and Village arranged in the same manner, but particularly Sea-bathing quarters, the want of which has been a just ground of complaint by strangers visiting the place, and even by the inhabitants themselves. At length, however, a subscription for the above purpose has been set a-moving, which, if followed up with proper spirit, will at once enable correspondents to address letters and parcels to their proper destination, and also enable the visitors (being only temporary residents) to give a direct reference to their lodgings, and thus all chance of delay will be removed. And as the compiler of the Commercial Directory for Renfrewshire has been solicited by a number of the respectable inhabitants of RENFREWSHIRE, LANARKSHIRE, AND LARGS, to give in his Directory a list of the principal lodgings, furnished or otherwise, in Largs; this the Publisher is assured will add much to the interest of the inhabitants generally;—he has complied with the request to publish the work once every two years (although at considerable expense), provided a sufficient number of Subscribers are obtained.

ROTHESAY.

A thriving and populous town on the Island of Bute, beautifully situated at the head of a fine Bay of the same name. The town of Rothesay was erected into a Royal Burgh by King Robert the II. who granted the Charter on the 12th January, 1400-1. It is governed by a Provost, two Baillies, twelve Councillors, and a Dean of Guild, of which the Marquis of Bute is present Provost. Here, also, the Courts of Justice are held; and a very handsome edifice has been newly erected in the castellated style, for that purpose, containing an excellent Court Hall, Sheriff, Justice of Peace, and Town Clerk's Offices, &c., at the back of the whole is erected a new County Jail, the whole of which is to be surmounted by a Tower, which, if carried to a proper height, so as to be easily distinguished from all parts of the town, (which there is little doubt will be done) will have a fine effect, as it is to contain a clock and bell; both of these the town stood greatly in need of—vessels will likewise thus be enabled to know the exact time either at entering or leaving the harbour.

The town also contains a great number of well-stocked, neatly fitted up shops, of every description. A number of excellent Inns, with superior accommodation; also a Coffee and News-room. It is likewise provided with an excellent Harbour, with numerous pleasure conveyances both by land and water, to be had at a very moderate rate.

Few towns have arisen so rapidly as this, from adverse to prosperous circumstances, greatly owing to its extensive herring trade—for a sea-faring life the people appear greatly to love, although the fisherman's life may be accounted one of the most incessant peril —for daily bread he must brave daily dangers. In that season when the tiller of the ground rest from his labours—when the artizan and mechanic are warmly housed—when the dormouse and the squirrel sleep in their soft woolly nests—and the little birds find shelter in hollow trees and banks, or migrate to milder regions, the poor Fisherman must encounter all the fury of the combined elements, for his children's bread is scattered on the waters. It is this perpetually enforced familiarity with danger that interests our feelings so powerfully in their behalf, together with its concomitant effects on their character—undaunted hardihood—insurmountable perseverance—almost heroic daring, and, generally speaking, a simplicity of heart and tenderness of deportment towards the females and little ones of their families, finely contrasting their rugged exterior. With men such as these, no wonder than the herring trade has been carried to such an extent as it is in this place.

There are registered at the present time no less than 60 vessels from the Custom-house of Rothesay, rating from 15 to 250 tons burthen, giving in all a total of 3,193 'Tons from the town alone, besides numerous other vessels registered from other ports, engaged in the same trade, belonging to ship-owners and merchants in the place.

Rothesay has likewise been long celebrated, and justly, for the mildness and salubrity of its climate, so much so indeed, as to have acquired, on that account, the appellation of the 'Italy of the North.' Landlocked as it is almost on every side, its beautiful bay—and sheltered as is the town itself by the high range of hills, which, as it were, wall it in behind; the angry tempest seeks in vain to disturb the tranquillity of the favoured spot—while its insular situation prevents it from experiencing those extremes of cold and heat to which the rest of the country is subjected, by the changes of the season. No wonder, then, that merchants and others, retired from the busy turmoils of a commercial life, are induced to take up their abode in its pleasant retreat, where numbers of them have erected handsome and splendid seats and villas, and thus once more assisted in bringing one of the ancient Royal residences of the Kings of Scotland into view as a place of note.

Besides all these, another great cause of its growing prosperity, is the extensive Cotton Works carried on by Messrs. Thom and Struthers, giving employment to some hundreds of individuals. The extent of these works will be better known by the amount of mule spindles they contain, which we can safely state as amounting to 22,000 at least. The town of Rothesay, in fact, can boast of being the first place in which the art of cotton-spinning was commenced in Scotland. The old mill, a small one-storey house, situated in Ladeside street, from a cotton mill was converted into a meal mill—from that to a weaving shop—next to a dyework—and is at the present time occupied by Messrs. Duncan & M'Fie, as an ale and porter cellar. There is also a pretty extensive power-loom factory carried on by Mrs David Doig, and ably managed by Mr John Robertson, who has the superintendence of the work, which affords the means of livelihood to many of the females of the place.

As a sea-bathing quarter, few places on the shores of the Clyde can compete with it, being, as was said before, so well sheltered on all sides, from the keen blasts of the south-western winds and storms. Its lodgings are numerous, containing any extent of accommodation wanted, beautifully situated on both sides of the bay, and the other parts of the town; whilst the numerous pleasure conveyances, either by land or water, by which visitors can thus easily visit any part of the island, or any place along its shores, make it at once an agreeable retreat either for the invalid or man of pleasure. And the numerous steam-boats departing from it to Glasgow, calling at the intermediate ports, ensures the man of business, who may be here for a season, an easy return. There are likewise two steam packets depart for Glasgow every day.

But its fine climate and picturesque scenery, although perhaps with many the principal, are by no means the only attraction which Rothesay possesses for the intelligent visitor. The antiquities in and around the place, would alone suffice to invest it with no ordinary degree of interest. It is well known that Rothesay was, in former times, frequently honoured with the presence of royalty; and the massive ruins of its ancient castle (said to be built about the year 1100) still speaks its former grandeur, where of old the monarchs of Scotland, with its chieftains, were wont to array themselves, and occasionally held their court, or sought a temporary retreat from the toils and anxieties of public affairs, and even from danger. Too much praise, therefore, cannot be given to the present Noble Marquis, who, with a zeal worthy of his illustrious race, has spared no expence to preserve this noble relic of our country's ancient glory from falling into utter decay. Not like many of those of our countrymen who have had some such venerable relic of antiquity upon their lands, caused them, with ruthless barbarity, to be razed to their foundation, to erect a pigeon house or dog kennel with the materiel. But the time we hope, is not far distant, when the enviable possessors of old edifices, must be taught that good taste, their own interest, and national glory, require the conservation of these venerable relics of olden time.

Some rustic tower,

Founded by Norman or by Saxon hands,

Beloved of old, and that delightful time

When all alone, for many a summer's day,

I wandered through your calm recesses, led

In silence by some powerful hand unseen.—AKENSIDE.

Another ancient relic, preserved likewise from utter disposition by the Noble Marquis, is an effigy of one of his long departed ancestors, Thomas, or the 'stout Stuart of Rothsay,' (contained in the ruins of an old Roman Catholic chapel, in Rothsay church-yard) who fought so bravely for his country against the invading Norwegians, at the famous battle of Largs, fought in 1263; the figure and heraldic emblazonry around the gothic dome which contains it, are much defaced by time, but much more so by barbarous and callous-hearted visitors, who mutilate and deface it by attempting to break pieces off, either through wanton mischief, or to carry away. Should any lover of these relicts of olden times chance to visit Rothsay, and wish information concerning them, he will find those there that are more capable to do so, than it can be done in these small bounds, as it would swell a volume, to give even a note of every thing worthy of visiting, among the most intelligent of these, I may mention Mr John Henry, a man who is respected by all classes in the place, and none more worthy of it, and who is intimate with all the localities of the island.

Notwithstanding all the advances which Rothesay has made in the scale of commercial and political importance, she still droops behind in many cases. One particular want, a want greatly felt by visitors, and even by the generality of the inhabitants themselves, is the numbering of the lands, and affixing the names of the streets upon the corners, which has already been done in various towns upon the Clyde, and found to be of the greatest benefit, as letters and parcels can now be forwarded with the utmost dispatch, and without the least danger of delay, which I am sorry to say, is not the same in Rothesay. The Publisher of this work set the town the example last season, by naming and numbering one of the streets at his own expense, in hopes they would have followed the same, that he thereby might have been enabled, in compiling the Directory for the place, to have given a direct reference to the different Traders, Merchants, Lodging-houses, &c. in it, but as they have not as yet followed the example set, he trusts that they will see the utility of having it speedily accomplished, and thus place themselves upon a level with the other towns and villages.

All Persons having the charge of vessels, steam-boats, &c. arriving at, or taking advantage of, the Harbours or Piers, shall observe the following Regulations:—

I. They shall birth, shift, and trim their vessels, and slacken and fasten ends and ropes, as directed by the Harbour-master, and attend at the time appointed for that purpose—under a penalty of forty shillings.

II. They shall not allow their vessels to rub on the Piers; but shall keep in use such fenders as the Harbour-master may direct; and those inside shall allow free access over their vessels to those in outside births, and vessels in outside shall fend off from vessels in inside births—under a penalty of forty shillings.

III. They shall not obstruct the free passage of other vessels, by allowing their vessels to lye at, or near to, nor by having ropes across the entrance to either of the Harbours—under a penalty of forty shillings.

IV. They shall not make fast their vessels to the Piers, otherwise than to rings or palls direct to their vessels, and not round the corners or any part of the Piers—under a penalty of sixty shillings.

V. All goods, ballast, or any other thing intended to be shipped by, or discharging from, any vessel, shall be laid down upon the Pier where the Harbour-master shall direct, and shall be removed therefrom at his desire, and effectual means to his satisfaction shall be used for preventing any part falling into the Harbour—under a penalty of forty shillings.

VI. No fires or lights shall be kindled, or taken on board any vessel loaded or partly loaded with such combustibles as are mentioned in the Thirtieth Section of the foresaid Act. And fires in all vessels, except Steam-boats, shall be extinguished at 8 o'clock at night, and shall not be lighted sooner than 7 in the morning, and no fire-arms shall be discharged near the Harbour—under a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

VII. No vessel shall be taken to the graving bank; no dock shall be made; and no fire shall be lighted at or near the Piers or Harbour, for any purpose, without first obtaining authority from the Harbour-master, whose directions must be obeyed—under a penalty of forty shillings.

All Owners, Masters, and Crews of Steam-boats shall, in addition to the foregoing, also comply with the following Regulations :

VIII. They shall, at all times, intimate on their respective boards their hours of sailing, and shall sail at the hour so intimated, and no alteration of the hour shall be allowed on any pretext—under a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

IX. Free access shall, at all times be given over Steam-boats, in inside, to those in outside births, for all necessary purposes; and hatchways and coal scuttles, when not in immediate use, shall be kept shut—under a penalty of forty shillings.

X. The engine of Steam-boats, arriving at the Piers, shall be slowed or stopped one hundred yards from the Piers, so as they may move slowly to their births; and when arriving at night, they shall have in use a sufficient number of lights, not less, in any case, than three hand lanterns—under a penalty not exceeding forty shillings.

XI. The Harbour-master, with his assistants, are empowered and required to enforce all the above Regulations, and to use every effort to promote good order and sobriety, and to suppress riot, theft, &c.; and no person shall insult or obstruct them, in any way, in the execution of their duty—under a penalty not exceeding five pounds.

XII. The above penalties shall be incurred by offending in any one particular of the above Regulations; and the expense of enforcing these Regulations, as well as any damages incurred, shall be exigible besides the penalties.

XIII. The Magistrates, if they see cause, may mitigate the penalties to not less than one-fourth.

DUMBARTONSHIRE.

HELENSBURGH.

This well and increasingly frequented bathing place is situated on the verge of the Western Highlands of Scotland, and is about eight miles distant from Dumbarton, the County Town. It is of very recent origin, having been founded about the year 1779, by the late Sir James Colquhoun of Luss, Bart., by whom it was named after his lady, Lady Helen Sutherland Colquhoun, of the house of Sutherland. Although of so recent a date, it is rapidly on the increase, numerous handsome villas and houses being erected in and around it every season, which the numerous visitors frequenting it in the bathing season render necessary.

This town was erected into a free Burgh of Barony in favour of Sir James Colquhoun of Luss, by Royal Charter, granted 28th July, 1802, and is governed by a Provost, two Bailles, four Councillors, Treasurer, and Dean of Guild. The Magistrates have power to make such bye laws as are consistent with the laws of the realm, and may be conducive to the establishment and preservation of good order, and to the advancement and prosperity of the burgh. The right of franchise consists in having right, by feu or lease, of 100 years, to a house and garden ground within the territory of the burgh; all such are entitled to vote at elections of Magistrates, and to be elected to the office of Magistrates, or Councillors, but under the following provisions, that no person shall be entitled to vote at the elections, or to be chosen Provost or Bailles, they having right as aforesaid, who is not a resident burghess. But (as it would appear from the charter) if lease or feu holders build up such garden ground, they lose their right of franchise. This to many will appear strange, but it is a proviso in the charter, done with the most laudable intention to preserve the town according to the plan, to each feu in which there is a portion of garden ground attached, that by this means the town may be kept free, light, and airy, and clear from that density of building so prevalent in many others. The town is built on a regular plan, according to which every new edifice is or ought to be erected. Few towns have a finer appearance, when viewed from the sea, or opposite shore, than this, were there but a spire to adorn the prospect; and, for the benefit of the inhabitants and those visiting the town, a public clock, which the place stands greatly in need of. Here also is, or ought to be, held a weekly market upon Thursday, with four annual fairs, each of two days' duration, for horse and cattle, and every other commodity, on any part of the territory of the burgh; the first held on the second Tuesday of February, the second upon the first of June, except when it falls upon Sunday, in which case to be held on Monday following; the third upon the sixth of August, and the fourth upon the twelfth of November—these two last being upon the same conditions as the first. The Magistrates have also full power to levy tolls, customs, and other duties at said fairs and weekly market, and to apply the same to the necessary expense of maintaining peace and good order during the said markets and fairs, otherwise for the good and benefit of the community.

Such is the beauty of this town, such a union, too, of the agreeable and convenient does its situation present, as to render it not in the least surprising the resort of company hither in the sea-bathing season is so great. Readily accessible by land and water—close to a fine beach—open to the soft and salubrious marine breeze—celebrated for its fresh water springs—sheltered by hill and wood from the keen blasts of the north and east—plentifully furnished by the sea with wholesome, palatable, and nutritious food—at a short distance from a complete depot of every necessary, and almost even every luxury, of civilized life—in the immediate neighbourhood of charming and varied scenery—of the safe and pleasant ride—of the romantic walk,—what can be wanting to render Helensburgh a most attractive spot to all who resort to the sea-shore in quest of health, or with a view to seclude themselves for a short period from the noise and turbulence of a busy life? Of the private lodgings all are well, and many even elegantly fitted up and furnished. The baths, built by the late Mr Henry Bell, engineer, in 1806, of which there are both hot and cold, with every necessary convenience, are in a handsome and commodious building, situated in East Clyde Street, and at present possessed by Mrs Henry Bell. To the baths is attached an Inn, with superior accommodation. The town has also another Inn, with great extent of accommodation. The place has also a Reading or News Room, neatly fitted up, terms moderate; and a Post Office, from which the arrival and departure of Mails to Glasgow take place twice daily. It is also well supplied with shops of every description. What they do not afford can be easily procured from Greenock (a town provided with every necessary, every convenience, and almost every luxury of life) by the steam-boats, which call nearly every hour in going to Roseneath or Garelochhead. A small harbour for steam, coasting, and pleasure vessels, is an agreeable appendage to the place. There are also two places of worship in the town, one for the original Burghers, the other Congregational Independents;—the Parish Church at Row, between two and three miles distant. Helensburgh is twenty-three miles N. W. of Glasgow, five N.E. of Greenock, and nineteen N.W. of Paisley,—places; these, whence, and from their vicinities, most of the summer company at Helensburgh will as yet be found to come.

The first Steam boat trip made in Britain was from Port-Glasgow to Helensburgh in the year 1812 by the Comet, Mr William M. Kenzie, master. The Comet was the first Steam-vessel, brought to utility, or to be of general use built in Britain, by the late Mr Henry Bell, architect, mill-wright, and engineer, Helensburgh, to whom the town is greatly indebted for the many improvements he made in it, whilst he was Provost of the Burgh.

Mr Henry Bell was born 7th April, 1767, at Torphichen mill, in the parish of same name, Linlithgowshire, Scotland, and departed this life 14th November 1830, at the Baths, Helensburgh. The mortal remains of this illustrious individual are interred in Row

Church-yard, Dumbartonshire, where, on my lately visiting the spot (August 1834) how was I surprised, nay, will it be believed?—that not a single mark of respect has been erected to the memory of the illustrious dead, to tell the stranger where his remains are deposited!! Not in this manner did he treat worth and merit, as evidence of which the same church-yard contains a confirmation of it; a large metal tablet 6 feet  $8\frac{1}{4}$  inches in length; 3 feet 7 inches in breadth; and  $5\frac{1}{2}$  inches thick; supported by six pillasters of 2 feet in height; the tablet contains the following inscription:—"To the Memory of CAPTAIN ROBERT BAIN, born May 1788, departed this life at Fort William, December 1827—aged 39 years.—C. R. Bain, was appointed by H. Bell to the command of the Comet Steam-boat in 1814, by which vessel a communication was opened up between the Western Islands of Scotland and Glasgow, through the Crinan canal in July 1819. He was the first Captain who commanded a vessel from sea to sea, through the great Caledonian canal, in 1822. This was erected as a tribute of honour for 16 years, faithful service, by Henry Bell, engineer, Helensburgh."—His widow, Mrs. Bell, would ere this have erected a tribute of respect to his memory, had she not (which I can positively state) been given to understand that certain individuals wished to have the honour of doing so; but shame to our country, shame to our merchants and mechanics, for whom he has done so much; it will remain for ever an indelible mark of disgrace; the finger of scorn will be pointed at them, and they themselves held up to derision, if they allow any longer the remains of this illustrious individual to remain unhonoured. The fortunate, the wealthy, and the titled dunces too frequently get buried beneath a splendid monument; and a false table of virtues is emblazoned thereon. The sculpture is called in to display the resources of his art in decking their tombstone, while the wisest and the best of men, are too often left to run down the stream, forgotten or uncared for; and the humble artizan is left to tell on that of the other, that he was "born on one day, and that he died upon the next." With what feelings of inwrought emotion does the traveller tread the ground where the bard of Mantua drew his infant breath?—and how intensely do we listen to the stories of Alexander, of Cæsar, of Pompey, and of Scipio; and eye the footsteps of “Macedonia’s madman,” and the hair-brained Swede? These have taken up many a precious hour of our time. But after all, what have these men done for the real welfare of mankind? They have sung of gods and goddesses—of bloody fields—of smoking cities and desolated homes; they have “marched unmoved amidst the agonies of slaughtered thousands”—the victims of “ambitious madness,” and they still pass for heroes, by those who think it more glorious to kill than to save mankind! But let us turn our thoughts to a man of another mould—to that illustrious individual whose aim was the philosophy of utility, and whose actions were those of patriotism and humanity.—To a man whose mechanical inventions and improvements have given a new and nobler tone to society—opened up new channels of national happiness and universal benefits. To contemplate the life of such a man, tends to expand the understanding and purify the soul; tends to link man with his fellow-men, and to exalt his contemplations towards the Divine source of all wisdom and goodness; and that man to whom we owe “floating bridges” upon the ocean, is well worthy to be ranked amongst the highest benefactors of his race, and has claims on his countrymen, which ought to be met with a liberal hand from that world in which his name will be perpetuated through the ages to come, where his “floating bridges” and magnificent palaces, which, “over the mountain waves,” and amid the roaring tempests, march “like giants rejoicing in their course,” will bear testimony to his merits on “rivers yet unknown to song,” through lands yet uncheered by the voice of liberty; through climes yet unvisited by the mild beams of christianity.

Two feus were granted at a feu duty almost nominal, by Sir James Colquhoun of Luss, Bart. about the year 1829, for the purpose of erecting a seminary or seminaries for public instruction. We hope the public of Helensburgh will appreciate the grant so frankly given them by the Lord of the Manor, and that ere long they will erect a seminary, for the literary moral, and religious instruction of their offspring, adequate to the wants of a daily increasing population.

GREENOCK CATTLE SHOW.

List of Premiums awarded to Exhibitors of Stock at Greenock, on Tuesday, 1st July, 1834.

The District Cattle Show took place at Finnart, in presence of a Committee of the Highland and Agricultural Society of Scotland. The Committee came to the ground between ten and eleven o'clock, with the following practical judges, viz.:—Mr. Pollok of Titwood, and Mr. Mather, Nether-place Mearns, for the Ayrshire Dairy Stock; Mr. Glen of Netherton, and Mr. Weir, Cathkin, for the Horses; and Messrs. M'Farlan, sen. and jun. Faslane, and Mr. M'Farlan, Lettermay, for the West Highland Stock and Sheep, who immediately commenced their examinations. It must be satisfactory to the district to learn, that the intelligent judges were sensible of growing improvement in the animals shown, particularly in the young, both male and female, of the Dairy Stock, and in the Male Sheep—of this latter class, the judges declared they never saw better Tups; and there was so near a parity of excellence among them, that they had considerable difficulty in determining the order of preference. The pair of Highland Oxen shown was remarked as being very fine; also, the Mares that gained the first and second prizes. The weather being uncommonly beautiful, a large concourse of spectators, both from town and country attended.

In the afternoon, the resident Members of the Highland Society, with the practical judges, and a number of the competitors and inhabitants of the district, sat down to an excellent dinner in the Tontine.—Provost Baine in the chair, supported on his right and left by the Rev. Dr. Macfarlan, and the very Rev. Principal Dewar of Aberdeen on his way home from Rothesay.—Claud Marshall, Esq., Croupier.—By the show of yesterday, the district has secured the Highland Society's conditional grant of £23 for Bulls and Queys for 1836, in addition to the same sum for 1835.

CLYDE TIDE TABLE.

*Calculated by Mr. MALCOM LYON, Teacher of Navigation, &c.
Greenock, for Fowler's Directory.*

TIDES are the daily rising and falling of the waters of the Ocean, and are produced by the attraction of the sun and moon, but chiefly by the attraction of the moon, which varies in the inverse proportion of the square of its distance from the object it attracts.

The tide on the side next the moon, or that which happens when the moon is above the horizon, is called the superior, and the other the inferior tide; but it is only in the ocean and large seas that there is sufficient water to admit the effect even in fluids to be distinctly observable.

In the interval between the two successive transits of the moon, she produces two tides, and the sun, in every twenty-four hours, produces two tides also. The tides produced by the sun and moon, coincide at the times of full and new moon, and the consequence is, the tides at those times are higher.

At the quarter of the moon, the effect of the solar is to diminish the lunar tide, and at those times, we find the tides are below the average height.

The tides at full and change are called spring tides, and those at the quarters, neap tides, but the highest and lowest tides are generally about the third tide after the full, and change, and the quarters.

When the moon is nearest the earth, the tides, of course, are greater than usual, and when the full or change of the moon happens about the beginning of January, when the sun also is nearest the earth, the tides are the greatest of all.

The times of high water at, any individual place, are greatly influenced by its local situation, but there is, at every place, a mean relation between the time of high water and that of the moon passing the meridian, which relation is subject to periodical variations, depending on the distances and relative positions of the sun and moon.

The time of high water is materially affected by the wind; for it is found, that gales of wind from the south, south-west, or south-east, will compel the waters to continue longer about the neighbourhood of Greenock, although the waters in some cases may not rise, an observer will not perceive any fall of water for an half hour, or three-fourths of an hour, after the estimated time.

Likewise strong north, north-east, or north-west winds prevent the waters from obtaining even the height that we might expect, and to retire sooner.

But persons wishing to take advantage of the tide, will find it convenient to consider the state of the weather before, and at the present time—by doing so, they will save some time.

As the Tides are calculated for Greenock, no explanation is requisite for the neighbouring places, such as Helensburgh, Gourock, and Rosneath which will have high water about the same time: but for Largs, Rothesay, and Millport, it will be necessary to subtract fifteen minutes, as these places receive the flood first.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Where merchants live, and wholesale dealers,
And various kinds of small retailers ;
Surgeons, midwives, and innkeepers,
Blacksmiths, and painters, chimney sweepers,
Who have to let well-furnished rooms,
Who curl hair and sell perfumes,
Who strive from drowning you to save,
Who make your coffins, dig your graves,
Who guard your merits when you're gone,
By 'graving them on your tomb-stone.
Who for misdeeds bestow rebukes,
Who bind, buy, sell, or lend out books,
Bellmen, door-keepers, and precentors,
Number who vote for parliameuters,
The members of incorporations,
And all who fill our public stations ;
Town criers, agents, auctioneers,
And who at funerals furnish tears.
Ministers, teachers, police rules,
Sabbath and week-day evening schools,
Those men who vigorous efforts join,
To circulate the word divine,
When banks are open, and when shut,
And where all carriers put up ;
The places whence all coaches start,
When they arrive, and when depart,
The time of starting of the post,
Where stamps are sold, and what they cost,
The saving banks, fire engines' station,
The newest tables of taxation,
About the boats, which will convey
Yourself or goods the cheapest way ;
Tables by which you'll quickly see
How days of weeks and months agree,
Letter writers, money lenders,
Fish, bacon, egg, and other venders,
Cattle shows, and ploughing matches,
The regattas, and steam coaches,
Porters, barrowmen, and their fares,
For to convey your goods and wares,
Sailing vessels, large and small,
Agents, masters, trade, and all,
Where you may have the cheapest reading,
Also steam vessels and cowfeeding ;
I these and other things will show,
Which 'tis desirable to know,
Knowledge like this there's little doubt,
Few prudent men will go without.
You'll have it all, you soon will see,
If you become possess'd of me.
